|| Industry Leader Sunesys Joins Allied Fiber's Dark Fiber Community ||

March 22, 2011 (Warrington, PA) - Sunesys, a telecommunications services and dark fiber provider in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, California, Illinois, Georgia, Florida, Delaware and Ohio, today announces they have joined Allied Fiber's Dark Fiber Community. The community was formed to develop an online networking and educational presence where industry leaders can share data and best practices.

"We're proud to be part of the Allied Fiber initiative," states Lawrence Coleman, Sunesys President. "As a state-of-the-art provider of information infrastructures, we relish the opportunity to contribute to this vital and growing resource."

Launched less than a year ago, the community now includes more than 70 members, encompassing financing companies, equipment vendors, industry associations and infrastructure engineers.

"We've also recognized the critical demand for high-performance broadband solutions that can be answered with dark fiber," continues Alan Katz, Sunesys Senior Vice President. "For us, the Dark Fiber Community represents a robust national platform for industry discussion, growth and innovation."

"We welcome Sunesys to the Dark Fiber Community," states Hunter Newby, CEO of Allied Fiber. "Sunesys' deep experience in delivering information infrastructure solutions will be a further asset to our growing online resource. We look forward to the Community, and Sunesys as a member of this Community, helping the entire communications ecosystem deliver high-performance broadband networks across America."
